B A R

City of Angels, 1970s

A decade defined by contrasts — a time of political change, social awakening, and bold discoveries. This was also when Dusit Thani Bangkok first opened its doors, heralding a new chapter of Thai hospitality.

From its earliest days, the original Dusit Thani Bangkok became a place of connection and conversation, welcoming visionaries, artists, and dreamers from every corner of the world.

This menu invites you to journey back through time and pays tribute to the unforgettable moments once shared within these walls, where echoes of the past continue to inspire the present.

Here's to the memories created, and to the many more that await.

Raise your glass to the 1970s.

Stevie Wonder was born blind, and while many believe that the loss of one sense heightens the others. This may be especially true with Stevie Wonder, who's sharp ear allowed him to become one of the most successful music artists in history, as an accomplished singer, bass player, pianist and drummer! We like to think his lack of eyesight also sharpens his sense of taste and smell, allowing him to better enjoy cocktails.

In 1969, the Savoy Hotel created the 'Moonwalk' cocktail to celebrate the moon landing. One year later in 1970, The Apollo 13 mission launched and revealed the immense risks and uncertainties of exploring the moon, famously showing the darker side of space travel. Though labeled a "successful failure," the crew was miraculously brought home safely. No cocktail was created to commemorate this tense and historic moment - so we thought we'd do the honours.
